Humane Officer After Pain.

Mrs. Helen Wilder Craft, the humane officer, is going to get after Manager Pain of the Horseless Boneshaker Co., otherwise known as the Hawaiian Trams Co. She claims that the drivers of the mules attached to the vehicles of the company are not the only ones at fault in the numerous cruelty to animals cases that have been tried in the police court recently. The drivers are given the animals to drive and if they don't drive them they lose their jobs. Most of the mules used, says Mrs. Craft, are too old to be doing hard work and a good many of them are sick. She is looking up the law in the case and will try and bring an action against Manager Pain personally for allowing the animals of the company to be used when they are in no condition to work.

Egry's Recital Was a Great Musical Treat

Large and Fashionable Audience Pays Homage to Honolulu's Best Musicians.

A large and select audience of music lovers was present at the violin recatal given by Paul Egry at the opera house ast evening. The concert was a success in every way and the only fault found was that it was over too soon.

and the selection of pieces was a clever

In Mendelssohn's E minor concerto Mrs. H. M. Mott-Smith, accompanist. The first movement showed the talent of Mr. Egry in all its versatility. In the however, he excelled, and these two were most pleasing. Mrs. Mott-Smith proved herself a splendid accompanist n this difficult number.

The violinist received much well merited applause for his performance. Number two on the program was the violincello solo by H. M. Mott-Smith. It was in two parts, a romanzo by MacDonald and a capriccio by Goltermann. The first was a weird composition which gave great scope for the performer's interpretation. It was enjoyed by the audience and a storm of tribute relief supplies has been stricken applause greeted the performer when he concluded. The capriccio was 2 great contrast to the first selection and in it Mr. Mott-Smith showed himself a master of the 'cello.

Mr. Egry electrified the audience in his rendition of Sarasate's Romanzo et Gavotte. Miss Castle accompanied him in this number. The piece is one not often attempted, but Egry proved his ability in no uncertain way and his particular part of the work that one work showed careful study. In response to an encore, "Coming Thro' the Rye" was given with charming effect.

Annis Montague Turner was the vocalist of the evening and her number consisted of a charming new song, "Il Sogno," by Mercatande. There is no need to say that Mrs. Turner pleased the large audience. It stands to reason that whenever she wings it is a pleasure and treat to listen. She favored the audience with the "Ave Maria" in response to a rousing encore and received many floral tokens at the close of her

Wieniawsky's "Faust" by Mr. Egry and Miss Castle showed the violinist to very good advantage, and following it the trio for piano, violin and 'cello, in four movements, was beautifully

The evening's entertainment concluded with Mr. Egry's playing of Sarsate's "Gypsy Dances."

THE MILITARY BAND.

Gave a Delightful Concert at the Hawaiian Hotel.

Standing room was almost at a pre mium at the prettily illuminated grounds of the Hawaiian hotel last evening, when a delightful season of rare melody, furnished by a score or more musicians from the Fifth and Eighth infantry bands, was enjoyed by the concourse of people, who packed almost every nook and corner of the enclosure and neighboring thoroughfares. The band rendered an excellent program, and in the early numbers Each number was a treat in itself developed the fact that they are as clever a musical organization as has visited the islands for some time. Their work last evening also demonfor violin, Mr. Egry was assisted by strated that their individual musical ability covered a wide scope. At the conclusion of the concert the musicians were taken in charge by Landandante and allegro vivace movements, lord Allen of the Hawaiian hotel and were tendered a luncheon and enjoyed a pleasant social hour afterward.
